Why This Course

Public expenditure management is essential for ensuring that government resources are planned, allocated, spent, monitored, and evaluated in a way that supports policy priorities and public value. Strong expenditure management helps governments improve service delivery, maintain fiscal discipline, strengthen accountability, and use public funds more efficiently.

In the public sector, spending decisions are not only financial decisions. They reflect national priorities, institutional responsibilities, legal requirements, citizen expectations, and long-term development goals. When expenditure systems are weak, governments may face budget overruns, poor resource allocation, delayed implementation, limited transparency, and reduced public trust.

This intensive 1-week course equips participants with advanced skills in public expenditure management. Through practical frameworks, budgeting exercises, expenditure control tools, fiscal accountability discussions, and reform case studies, participants will learn how to improve budgeting processes, strengthen expenditure control, enhance transparency, and align public spending with policy objectives.
